

3.8. Use of Biohazard Labels

Biohazard labels are labels incorporating the universal biohazard symbol. They are stating that the item is either contaminated with biohazardous material or contains biohazardous material. Biohazard labels must be red or red-orange with biohazard symbol and the word "biohazard" in a contrasting color. Biohazard labels are required to be used in the following situations:

- On the outside door of where biological material is stored or manipulated;
- Bags/containers of biological waste;
- Bags/containers of contaminated laundry;
- Refrigerators and freezers used to store biological material;
 - Refrigerators and freezers in common storage rooms shall have individual emergency contact information on each.
- Bag/containers used to store, dispose of, transport, or ship biological material; and
- Contaminated equipment to be serviced or shipped.
